CE AT BEL-REA

FEBRUARY 11

6 - 8:30PM

Tammy Schneider, AAS, BS, CVT, RLATG

Goats Part I - City Goats

In today's world with more and more urban farming, city goats are becoming a very common thing to see in our society and within practice. This CE will cover the basics of goat husbandry to expose the CE taker to the basic requirements of urban goats, preventative medicine and basic care. This will help technicians to educate clients on their goats in a more urban setting.

2.5 CE Technical Credits

Brett Titus

What Drives the Dog

Brett Titus has been communicating and training dogs for over 30 years. He has trained hundreds of pets at the world renowned Alameda East Veterinary Hospital, and trained or lectured to thousands of the top Police/Military K9 teams across the country.

Brett has also achieved some of the highest levels in the sport of Schutzhund. Competing in dozens of competitions, he is one of few that has taken four separate breeds to 11 National Championships as well as qualifying and competing in the Deutsche Meisterschaft (Championship in Germany). Being selected as a decoy for three National Championships has given him experience on both ends of the leash.
